QUALIFYING TYPING AND DATA BASE PERFORMANCE TESTS – When possible, the performance tests will be held PRIOR to the written test. Should you fail the first typing and/or data base test, a second test will be offered to you either immediately or within 10 days. You must pass the performance tests and written test both to be considered for appointment. Listed below is important information regarding the typing performance test:

- The performance test is a test in keying speed and accuracy. It utilizes a standard keyboard and is given on a personal computer. The computer program requires no prior knowledge of the software. The instructions for taking this test are presented as part of the computer program.

- In order to pass the test, candidates must enter the text at a rate of 35 words per minute, with at least 96% accuracy. For example, if a candidate enters the text at 35 wpm, the maximum allowable number of errors is 7. (Note: A word is defined as five characters. The rating formula divides the total number of characters entered by five to determine the number of words entered.)

The data base performance test will be a qualifying (pass/fail) test. Listed below is important information regarding the data base performance test:

- The test will be a performance test that will require you to use a conventional personal computer (PC) with a standard keyboard to perform various clerical tasks using pre-established databases. The databases will be of a generic variety, you do not need any present knowledge of these databases in order to do well on the test. When you begin the testing program, you will receive graphic on-screen instructions that tell you how to use the databases and how to take the test.
- The test will consist of three parts. In Part One, you will be required to add, delete and update various records in a database. In Part Two, you will be required to look up records in a database and write down selected information from the records onto printed forms. In Part Three, the computer will present questions about the information that you wrote down in Part Two. You will enter your answers directly into the PC. Your rating on this test will be based on the amount of material you complete and on the accuracy of your work.
